

Pupils explained the busyness of the corridors makes them nervous, but staf levels make this feel safer.